"Linux Workshop" to Enhance Engineering Students' Skills

The College of Engineering at Al Ain University (Abu Dhabi campus) organized a "Linux" workshop presented by student Kenan Hassan - a Cybersecurity student- and moderated by Eng. Rima Masri. The workshop aimed to increase students' experience with the operating system that drives the world's critical tasks, Debian Linux. The students learned the basics of bash scripting. They explored ways Linux is used in Cybersecurity, Software Engineering, and Desktop Computing over the four days engagingly and interactively.
